

24 Hour On Demand Recorded Message

DEFINITION: An around-the-clock message to share the benefits of your service, product, or area of expertise with potential clients, especially those who may really need or want your service but may be reluctant to call or come in.

Typically your response will be 3 to 5 times greater in any of your ads, newspapers, yellow pages, brochures, real estate listings, and website if you use 24 hour on demand recorded message techniques.

Why? You are providing information to a prospective buyer who knows they don't have to speak to a sales person to simply learn about your business. This means that customers are calling your pre-recorded message, even while you're asleep! An interested client simply has to pick up the phone and call the 24 hour recorded message to hear from you.

Ideas for your message include information about products you carry or services you offer, information on how to get a special report or free gift, coming events, and even your VIP club! In fact, you can even get a second line for your testimonial line!

Potential clients feel no pressure to call. And when they do walk in or schedule an appointment, they are more educated and better prepared to do business with you, having a clearer picture of what you do and how they can benefit.
